KINGSTON DRYDOCK COMPANY SECURES WORK FOR WINTER

Big New York Dredge Hauled Out of Icebound Creek in Near-Zero Weather for Rebuilding and General Renovation of Machinery.

One of the largest dredges that have ever entered Rondout creek arrived at the yards of the Kingston Drydock and Construction Company Saturday, the Leigh, of the Gahagan Dredging Co., Inc., of New York, and on Sunday was hauled out on the marine railway for rebuilding and a general overhauling of machinery. This, together with some other work at the yard, will keep a considerable number of men at work the balance of the winter. Great difficulty was encountered in hauling the big boat out due to the near zero weather and the ice in the creek, but it was successfully accomplished.

BERNHARDT, STAGE IDOL, PENNILESS

May Never Be Able To Act Again Owing 1,000,000 Francs—Illness Declared to Be Uremia.

(Copyright 1923 by International News Service.)

Paris, Jan. 8.—Despite the millions in money which an admiring world has paid in tribute to her, Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, finds herself today in straitened financial circumstances. In fact, the "Divine Sarah," despite the enormous sums she has earned upon the stage, is "broke." Despite her illness, Mme. Bernhardt feels that she must return to her dramatic work at the earliest possible moment to pay off her debts, many of which were incurred through unfortunate investments by her son, Maurice.

It is learned from an authoritative source that Mme. Bernhardt is suffering from uremia. Her friends have declared since the beginning of her illness that she would never be able to return to the stage. Members of her family and the doctors did not dare to tell Mme. Bernhardt of her real condition.

Instead, for purposes of keeping up her indomitable courage, they held out the prospect that she would be able to resume her career. They feared that if she learned her dramatic career was ended, despondency would follow and she might give up her valiant fight for health.

The foregoing circumstances, were responsible for false reports circulated in the United States a fortnight ago, that "Mme. Bernhardt would take up her work within a week or ten days."

Sacha Guitry, author of the new play in which Mme. Bernhardt was to have had the leading role, but which is being produced with Henriette Rogers playing the part reserved for the "Divine Sarah," contemplates plans for the actress' financial relief.

Guitry and other intimates are considering an appeal to theatrical people throughout the world to give benefit performances in theatres in England and America, where Mme. Bernhardt has appeared, for the purpose of raising the 1,000,000 francs necessary to pay off the actress' debts.

"Mme. Sarah's last performance was her actual farewell, although she did not know it," said Guitry to friends today. "She does not know it yet. Her last dress rehearsal was the greatest triumph of her life. Never have I seen such emotion. In the play she held a letter in her hand and wept. It was so realistic that after the rehearsal the letter was found to be soaked with her tears."

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

Rondout Presbyterian Church Preparing for Supper and Study.

Plans are on foot to begin the series of church family suppers and study hours at the Rondout Presbyterian Church with the first of February. Frank R. Powley, Miss Margaret McCullough, I. W. Scott and Mrs. Charles R. O'Connor are the committee to act on the curriculum.

To conserve coal all of the church services since the first of the year are being held in the chapel.

A meeting of the teachers and older scholars of the Bible School will be held at the home of Miss Edith Holmes on West Chester street Tuesday evening.

The ladies of the congregation are requested to meet in the chapel on Thursday afternoon to commence the over-seas sewing. Every one attending is urged to bring a lunch and stay for the prayer service. The subject for the service will be "Dorcas and Her Work."

Weather permitting the Colonial Chapter, Westminster Guild, meets in the chapel this evening.

SNOW DRIFTS CAN'T STOP OFFICER ALEY'S INDIAN

Without Residual Drives Through Storm in Motorcycle Today.

Snow storms and snow drifts can't stop Officer Jacob Aley's Indian motorcycle with a side car. This morning Aley left his home in Wilbur on his machine and in spite of the drifted roads and the falling snow drove his machine through to the city hall. He said that he did not experience much difficulty even in getting through drifts of several feet in height.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS ITALY URGES FRANCE TO DELAY NOT REOPENED

After Holiday Recess, Owing to Storm—Transportation and Other Utilities Not Seriously Affected as Yet.

Residents of this city woke this morning to find a fresh covering of snow on the ground which had already reached considerable depth and seemed to be coming from all sides without any let up.

The snow commenced Sunday evening, continuing throughout the night with fair promise of keeping it up for the rest of the day. The snow does not seem to be general throughout this section as only an inch is reported above Fleischmanns and none whatsoever at Oneonta. So far the snow has not delayed the movements on any of the railroads with stations in this city. All the West Shore trains today have been coming in on time while the daylight of snow caused only a slight delay on the Ontario and Western, where the morning train was about one-half hour late.

The Ulster and Delaware is having no trouble and as yet has not found it necessary to send out the snow plow in order to clear the tracks. There is about six inches of snow from Kingston to Fleischmanns along this road. The bus lines running into the surrounding country are having very little trouble in keeping up to scheduled time. The storm has not caused the telephone and telegraph companies any trouble and they are maintaining their service as usual.

The spow and wind assumed such threatening proportions early this morning that the school officials decided that it would be best to keep all the grammar schools in the city closed, and as a result only the high school opened, according to schedule, after the Christmas recess of two weeks.

The street department had a large force of men busy throughout the day keeping the main streets of the city open and the trolley road snow plow has been running continuously. As a result automobiles have had little trouble getting around.

RUHR BASIN CONTAINS BEST GERMAN COAL FIELD

The Ruhr Basin which is now the center of the world's interest, contains Germany's richest coal fields. It lies at the northern end of the great Rhineland industrial belt. The coal fields flank the Ruhr River which flows into the Rhine at Ruhrort, 15 miles south of Wesel. This stream is 150 miles long and furnishes valuable water transport for coal and coke to the German mills and factories at Essen. Essen, the seat of the great Krupp works, formerly the chief source of Germany's war supplies, lies on the western fringe of the Ruhr district.

SPECIAL PIANO FOR STOKVIS CONCERT FRIDAY

The people who attend the concert to be given at St. James' M. E. Church on Friday evening of this week, will hear for the first time in Kingston a Steinway duo-art grand piano. The Aeolian Company of New York City is sending Miss Suzanne Stokvis, the noted pianist of London and New York, this piano to play on at the concert. This is the highest priced instrument that the Steinway people make and has been brought here through the instrumentality of E. Winter's Sons.

CAPITOL DISTRICT FEARS BLIZZARD

Albany, Jan. 8.—A snow storm that threatens to end in a blizzard has eastern and northern New York in its grip today.

Nearly five inches of snow fell during the early morning hours and with the wind starting to blow, it was feared by nightfall traffic would be badly tied up.

Street car traffic in cities throughout this section was badly interrupted, but the traction companies brought all their snow fighting apparatus into use at an early hour.

Trains from the north and west were running from one-half to one hour late. Persons arriving from the north expressed fears that the Adirondack section would be snowed in by night.

Scores of instances of trucks and automobiles stuck in drifts in outlying districts were reported.

ARTISTS FOR CONCERT AT ST. JAMES'S CHURCH

Justin Laurie, tenor, of New York who will sing in the concert to be given in the auditorium of the St. James church on Friday evening, January 12, is said to possess a tenor voice of extraordinary beauty and power beside being dramatic and gifted with a magnetic personality.

In addition to Mr. Laurie, Miss Suzanne Stokvis, pianiste extraordinary of New York and London, and Miss Georgianna Clafin of this city, both well recognized in Kingston, will complete the program.

In addition to the large list of patrons a good number of tickets have been sold and the organ fund is assured a goodly sum toward the new organ so badly needed in the St. James church. Those wishing to become patrons may do so by seeing any member of the organ fund committee or single tickets may be purchased at the Forsyth & Davis store, Wall street.

CAMPAIN FOR LUTHERAN CHAPEL AT CORNELL

Buffalo, Jan. 8.—At the small group meeting of representative Lutheran laymen here last evening, $6,500 was subscribed toward a building fund for a Lutheran Chapel at Cornell University.

The Churches of The Evangelical Lutheran Synod of New York and New England have planned a campaign during the period of January 12 to 26, to raise $92,700 to build and equip a chapel at Cornell University, to serve several hundred Lutheran students in attendance there, and in which to train their students to become leaders in their own churches.

Triangles Will Oppose Pythians

The Pythians will encounter the Triangle Quintet Tuesday evening, January 9, at Pythian Hall, Port Jervis. A number of teams have fallen before the Port Jervis cohorts representing the Port Jervis village and Tuesday evening they will have to show their strength when they meet the fast Triangles, composed of players from this city. Dancing will follow the contest.

BROKE INTO HOTEL; DEMANDED DRINKS

About 3 o'clock Sunday morning police headquarters received a hasty call from the Kingston Hotel on Crown street, to which Officer McIntire responded. The officer learned that four men had driven up to the hotel in an auto and breaking a window had forced their way into the office. The noise aroused the proprietor and when he appeared on the scene the men demanded to be served with drinks, which request was refused. They then left and had driven away before the policeman reached the hotel.

AMERICAN LEGION DINNER AT ALBANY JANUARY 30

The annual dinner of The American Legion, Department of New York, in honor of the ex-service members of the Legislature will be held in Albany at the Ten Eyck Hotel on the evening of January 30.

The dinner will be preceded by meetings of all the standing committees which will report to the Executive Committee which is to meet after the other committees have concluded their deliberations.

In addition to the various Legion committee meetings, the Veterans' Mountain Camp Corporation will have a meeting of its Board of Directors in Albany on the same date, and various matters of the greatest importance towards setting the camp started will be discussed.

The dinner is limited to Legionnaires in good standing. Those desiring reservations should immediately communicate with Samuel E. Aronowitz, Chairman, State Legislative Committee, 36 State street, Albany, N. Y.

U. & D. TAKES OFF ONE SWITCHING ENGINE HERE

Beginning Tuesday morning, the Ulster and Delaware Railroad will operate only one engine for its Rondout and Kingston switching work instead of two which it has been doing up to this time. This will mean that the crew for the Kingston work will come on at 1 o'clock instead of 11 and that persons desiring to have switching work done on the Kingston end of the road will have to wait until later in the day.

Although the officials of the company realize that this will be inconvenient, some of the people for whom they switch cars they have found it impractical to run two engines when one can take care of all the work at this time of the year.

Basketball at East Kingston

The K. of C. basketball club will oppose the East Kingston team Tuesday evening at the East Kingston Hall. The K. of C. quintet is made up of some of the best basketball stars of Kingston and Tuesday night's game will be looked forward to as one of the best games of the season. The following is the lineup that East Kingston will use Tuesday night: Carr, H. Moran or Flannigan, D. Denter, C. Acker, R. G. and M. O'Brien. Acker's big auto bus will leave the K. of C. Home at 7:30 and return after the game for the benefit of the Kingston fans that would like to attend the game. The game will start at 8:30, with dancing after.

Zena Wood Supply

William Klementz, of Zena, has purchased a very complete Hercules mounted gasoline engine and wood saw from the Canfield Supply Company of Kingston.

P. T. A. No. 2 Meeting

The Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 2 will meet at the school on Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Topic for discussion, "The Rights of the Child."

Jewish Social Club

The Kingston Jewish Social Club will hold a special meeting Tuesday evening, at eight o'clock at its meeting rooms, 14 North Front street.

OPPOSITION OF FRENCH FACTIONS LIKELY TO THWART RUHR SEIZURE

Marshal Foch Suddenly Shown to be Against It—May Be Bluff to Compel Someone to Guarantee German Payments to France—Poincare's Enemies Scent Good Chance to Overthrow Government.

(Copyright 1923 by International News Service.)

OUR RHINE FORCE EXPECTS TO MOVE

Paris, Jan. 8.—France's hasty and vigorous plans for military occupation of the German Ruhr have brought the cabinet to a dilemma, it was learned this afternoon from an authoritative source.

The ministers had hoped that French threats would bring intervention from Great Britain, the United States or the German industrialists to stave off the Ruhr seizure. This hope has not been realized.

It is stated in quarters close to the government that American intervention would now be most welcome, so long as it is economic and not political.

France, it was declared, would be entirely satisfied if Wall Street would give assurances that the French budget for 1924 would be met, obviating the necessity for a capital levy, enabling the present French administration to face 1924 elections hopefully.

It was generally believed that Marshal Foch favored military occupation of the Ruhr, he is now said to be opposing such action, saying "France has nothing to gain and everything to lose."

"You think you will occupy the Ruhr, but you will find that the Ruhr will occupy you," Marshal Foch was said to have told the cabinet.

The political opponents of Premier Poincare led by Andre Tardieu, M. Mandel and former Premier Aristide Briand and M. Loucheur profess confidence that the Poincare cabinet can be overthrown and already are making up bids for the next ministry.

Paris, Jan. 8.—France moved troops reinforcements towards the Rhine today while the Inter-Allied reparations commission was meeting to give Germany a final hearing on the charges that she is in default of her coal and coke deliveries, pledged under the treaty of Versailles.

An official decree from the reparations commission proclaiming Germany in default, is expected within 24 hours. It was reported the French army may be moved toward the Ruhr by easy stages instead of by a single concerted stroke. If this program is followed, Essen, the great industrial city on the western edge of the Ruhr Basin and the seat of the Krupp works may be seized first before the Ruhr is taken over.

The one hundred and forty-ninth Infantry and the sixty-second field artillery at Epinal received orders today to entrain for the Rhineland on Wednesday.

The thirteen Dragons at Melun, are under orders to be in readiness for service in the Ruhr.

There is much activity at the headquarters of the twentieth Artillery Corps at Nancy, indicating that this unit will be ordered to the Rhine.

Four companies of public works engineers are on their way from Toulon for Paris for service in the Ruhr zone.

A detachment of forty French engineers that departed from Paris last night ostensibly for Essen, will go to Dusseldorf instead, it was learned today. They will not go to Essen until French troops take over Essen to protect them.

Belief is growing here that the American and British armies of occupation, at Coblenz and Cologne will be withdrawn when the French move forward. In this event the French and Belgian forces will carry out the movement together, employing about 75,000 men.

The cabinet has decided to put Public Works Minister Berthoulet in full charge of the exploitation of the Ruhr. He will be in complete command of the civilian engineers and officials who will work under the protection of French troops.

The French, it is understood, will employ all white troops because of the protests aroused by the use of negro troops upon the Rhine.

Every possible precaution will be taken to allay hostility on the part of the German population of the occupied districts. Proclamations will be posted as the troops move along warning against violence and promising the people relief from oppressive measures.

P. T. A. No. 7 Meeting.

The Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 7 will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock at the school. The Rev. Lucas Boeve and Miss Anne Heaney will be the speakers.

Minstrel and Dance

Star of Kingston Lodge, No. 35, Shepherds of Bethlehem, will hold a minstrel and dance Friday evening of this week at the Holy Cross parish house. Baile's orchestra will supply the music.

COW DAY DREAMS

"Moo, moo," said Mrs. Cow, "I am not asleep but I am dreaming."

"Goodness me," said Mrs. Brown-and-White Cow, "I do not understand. That is too much for my cow mind."

"Much too much."

"Well," said Mrs. Cow, "it is quite possible to be dreaming and yet not be asleep. Perhaps though I should say that I am day-dreaming."

"When creatures day-dream they think of things during the day-time which they would like to have, of places they would like to visit, of happy events they would like to have come off."

"Such are day dreams. Creatures may never close their eyes and yet they may have day dreams."

"I do hope in my cow way I am clear and that I am explaining it to you so you understand."

"Yes," said Mrs. Brown-and-White Cow, "I understand. And what have been your day dreams, Mrs. Cow?"

Mrs. Cow was much pleased to tell her day dreams. In fact, that had been what she had been wanting to do.

"I have been dreaming of the springtime," said Mrs. Cow. "The springtime will not be here for quite awhile now, but I am dreaming of it."

"I am thinking of the brook and the stream. The ice will have gone when the springtime comes."

"And after Mr. Sun has taken the chill off the water it will be so pleasant."

"Then the grass will begin to grow and everything will start in for another summer of glory."

"As I look out of the stall window upon this cold winter day I do not think of the snow which I see before me. I would see that if I were not day-dreaming."

"But as I am day-dreaming I think of the warmth and the soft, lovely earth and of days and nights spent out of doors."

"I think of all of that."

"To my cow mind," said Mrs. Brown-and-White, "I think you are clever."

"Yes, I think it is clever for one to think of warm weather when it is cold."

"Of course anyone can think of warm weather when it is cold, but I mean that I think it is wonderful when they can actually almost feel the warm weather."

"Why when you were talking just now you spoke as though you actually felt the warm spring air upon your face and could feel the lovely earth under your feet."

"The very way I felt," said Mrs. Cow. "Oh, that is the great joy of day-dreaming. You should try it, Mrs. Brown-and-White."

"Yes, you should try it."

"Well," said Mrs. Brown-and-White, "maybe I will."

And there was quiet for awhile.

Then Mrs. Brown-and-White said: "Moo, moo," and Mrs. Cow said:

"My dear, do tell me! Have you been having a pleasant day dream? Have you?"

"Why yes," said Mrs. Brown-and-White. "I've been having a beautiful day dream. In fact I almost feel I was too hot and that the flies were bothering me. I got very far along in my day-dreaming."

"And I understand, now how children have make-believe games. I remember a little boy this fall asking his mother if he could make a bonfire."

"There would have been no one to watch the bonfire and the mother was afraid something might happen, so she told the little boy that he could only make a make-believe bonfire."

"That little boy had a beautiful time, too. He pretended there were flames and he danced about the bonfire."

"He had made it out of leaves, but there was no fire about it."

"And yet he had such a splendid time making-believe."

"And there was I actually feeling too warm, so real a 'make-believe' as I was having."

And Mrs. Cow smiled and so did Mrs. Brown-and-White for it was a great joke to think a day dream could be as real as all that.

So the cows often had their day dreams during the winter and their day dreams were always of the springtime and the summer and of beautiful meadows and streams.

SOUPS AND GARNISHES

Soups will never grow passe, for with too many a soup is the attractive dish of the meal. There are such varieties that he is indeed hard to please who cannot find one to his liking.

Vermont Chicken Soup.—Take six cupsful of well-seasoned chicken stock, add a little grated onion, a head of lettuce shredded and one cupful of peas. If the peas are fresh, simmer until they are done. Beat an egg, add enough bread crumbs to make a paste and shape into balls. Drop the balls into the soup and simmer until well heated; serve hot.

Quick Bouillon.—Cut fine one pound of fresh beef and a slice of fat pork. Put into a saucepan with one cupful of cold water, one carrot, one onion finely minced, and cook fifteen minutes; then add two cupfuls of boiling water. Simmer for an hour, then press through a fine sieve. Season with salt, pepper and celery salt.

Cheese Balls.—Take one-half cupful of flour, half a cupful of milk, a tablespoonful each of butter and cheese. Mix in a double boiler, cook until smooth and thick, add one egg well beaten and cook long enough to set the egg. Set aside to cool. Form into balls the size of hickory nuts, drop into boiling soup, cook five minutes and serve immediately.

Leftover Meat Dish.—Put through the meat grinder two or three medium-sized potatoes, season well, add one small onion also ground through the meat grinder. In a little pork sausage fat cook the potato and onion until well scalded, then place in a well-buttered baking pan with a layer of chopped roast beef and garnish with halves of cooked pork sausages. Bake until the potato and onion are cooked. Serve from the dish. See that all the potato water and onion juice is added for it will be needed for moisture.

Spaghetti Bug!

An Announcement

WHICH CONCERNS ANY WOMAN'S GREATEST CHARM—HER HAIR

DURING the past thirty-four years over three hundred Harper Method Shops have been established throughout the country. Now, at last, there is one conveniently situated for you. Everywhere Harper Shops are patronized by the leading women in their vicinity. Even if you have never been within reach of one, you undoubtedly know of the Harper Method. The fame of it has spread faster than the shops could be opened, for they can be operated only by Harper graduates and the course is a most thorough one.

The principle of the whole Harper Method is beauty through health. We neither believe in nor practice the artificiality of the so-called beauty shops. When the hair is brought to its natural state of health and maintained in it, the result is a natural beauty that cannot be imitated.

If your hair is poor, give it the benefit of the Harper Method and see how it will respond to it. If you have the gift of beautiful hair, let us help you care for it and keep it gloriously beautiful.

CITY TREASURER'S NOTICE.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT.

Notice is hereby given that I have received the warrant for collection of the special assessment of 75 per cent of the excesses incurred in the construction of a

Sanitary Sewer in East Chester Street, commencing at a point 90 feet south of the southern line of Lincoln Street, thence running through East Chester Street for a distance of 1,000 feet to the existing sewer in East Chester Street, said sewer being 75 feet northwesterly from the easterly line of Wood Street.

That same has been left with me for collection at my office in the City Hall, in said

City; that for thirty days from the date of this notice the said assessment shall be paid without additional fees or charges, and that for the twenty days succeeding 2 per centum will be collected.

If any special assessment shall remain unpaid at the time last mentioned, I shall give a written or printed notice to the person or persons against whom such assessment stands charged, re-quitting them to pay unpaid assessments to me, at my office within thirty days thereafter, with 5 per centum fees thereon, and one dollar for such notice as required by the City Charter.

How these National Award-Winning Models may find a place in YOUR home

A limited number available at unusually moderate prices

That Spare Room

It can be made to take on a homely warmth and cheer at a very small expense.

The ASHFORD enameled bedroom suite will lend beauty and cheer to the guest room. A notable feature is the gracefully curved outline of the aprons of all pieces, which idea is again suggested at the mirror corners. The design is distinguished by its simple dignity. Four pieces, of genuine birch throughout finished in the new soft Royal gray enamel with harmonizing stripes. Full sized bed, dresser, toilet table and chiffonette, all TRIPLE GUARANTEE models available at the startlingly low figure of $149.00.

AT LAST you have the opportunity of seeing and owning furniture that has won the endorsement of a recognized national authority, the Home Furnishing Styles Association of America.

Because this Association regards us as one of America's leading furniture retailers, we have earned the privilege of displaying these models for your inspection and offering you the free use of the Association's Home Beautifying Service. The most surprising part about these Award Winning Models is that, although limited in number, they are available at unusually low prices. What's more, they carry the TRIPLE GUARANTEE of the Manufacturer, the Association and Gregory & Co. You'll know these Award Winning Models by this grade mark, branded on each piece.

TRIPLE GUARANTEE

You'll know the true story of each piece by the specification tag attached. What's in the furniture, is on the tag.

We invite you to see our first exhibit of National Award Winning Models and to avail yourself of the Association's free Home Beautifying Service.

A PLEASURE TO PRESENT YOU WITH THIS GIFT

A free month's subscription to "Home Furnishing Styles," the de luxe Dollar-a-Copy monthly magazine will be given to the first 500 owners of TRIPLE GUARANTEE furniture. Ask to see it.

A Book or a House Party

Alone, quietly reading beneath your lamp or the room ringing with the chatter of company, the HAMILTON three-piece overstuffed suite makes the perfect setting. Its easy chairs and roomy davenport invite you to sink into their luxurious depths to enjoy a good book or to engage in congenial conversation. Comfort is the dominant note in this suite, upholstered in an excellent quality of tapestry. The legs are Queen Ann design, toned antique mahogany. Davenport, armchair and wing chair, all TRIPLE GUARANTEE models, a notable value at $240.00.

The Evening Meal

After the long day's duties, what a pleasure to sit at table within the smiling circle of your dear ones.

The YORKE dining room suite adds to that sense of well being and comfort that makes your home a place where you want to be. This sturdy furniture displays a strong Jacobean influence in the characteristic turnings of the leg, the plain stretchers placed near the floor, the split-spindle ornaments, and the panels of Flemish type. Exteriors of this combination walnut suite are finished in a beautiful two-tone effect. Ten pieces, all TRIPLE GUARANTEE models invitingly priced at $300.00.

One Third of Your Life

For that portion of your life spent in sleep your needs are few. Why not have them of the best?

The WYNDHAM of genuine walnut veneer is the aristocrat of bedroom suites. The Hepplewhite influence is apparent in the graceful arching of the mirror frames and the general delicacy of contour. Two-toned; antique silver plate drawer pulls. Dresser, chiffonette, vanity toilet and full sized bed. Four pieces, true examples of the highest type of cabinet work, and all TRIPLE GUARANTEE models, a prize possession at $425.00.

Guests for Dinner!

The host and hostess sit comfortably at ease assured that the appraising glances of their discerning guests will mark approval.

The TOURAINE dining room suite gives an air of distinction to the room when you are entertaining. Slender, fluted legs in the Louis XVI manner, shaped panels overlaid with beautiful figured butt walnut in two-tone effect, antique-silver finished drawer pulls and the delicate tracery of the china cabinet door; all combine to produce an effect of marked beauty and richness. Extension table, buffet, china cabinet, and serving chest; all genuine walnut TRIPLE GUARANTEE models, quality production at the economy price of $315.00.

How "The Cat and the Canary" Famous as a Mystery Play Developed an Unexpected Influence on the Matrimonial Market.

IN ADDITION to its claims to popularity as a thriller, a mystifier and a laugh-provoker "The Cat and the Canary," Kilbourn Gordon's production of John Willard's famous play, has unexpectedly developed as a first-aid to matrimony. Its almost continuous dark scenes, its terror-filled moments encourage defiance of the conventions and have led to many a hand-clasp that in turn have led to avowals long withheld on trembling lips. It is a positive find for the husband.

swain who has been trying for weeks to buck up courage to hold the One Girl's hand, for here in a play that will make the One Girl reach out and grasp the Rashful Swain of her own will and accord, the while the chills run up and down her spine, as the "Cat" pursues the "Canary" through three acts filled with blood-curdling situations.

And, of course, once the ice is broken it is but a short hop, skip and jump to the marriage altar.

It is many months since the opening performance of "The Cat and the Canary" in New York City, where it is still running, but not until very recently.

did Mr. Gordon know how much more than a merely popular play he had given the world. The first intimation of something else came in the form of a wedding invitation accompanied by a note that read in part:

"YOU WILL BE SURPRISED, NO DOUBT, TO RECEIVE A WEDDING INVITATION FROM A TOTAL STRANGER, BUT I WISH TO EXPLAIN THAT WERE IT NOT FOR A VISIT TO YOUR SHOW I WOULD NOW BE BACK ON MY OHIO FARM. A DISCOURAGED, DEFEATED, COWARDLY BACHELOR.

"INSTEAD, I HAVE WON THE GIRL OF MY HEART, ALTHOUGH FOUR WEEKS AGO I DIDN'T DARE BELIEVE THAT I HAD A CHANCE. I TOOK HER TO SEE THE 'CAT AND THE CANARY' AND THE FIRST THING I KNEW SHE WAS SNUGLING UP TO ME AND GRIPPING MY ARM NEAREST TO HER—AND I WAS AFRAID TO BREATHE. WHAT WITH BEING SO SURPRISED AT HER ACTIONS AND ALSO SCARED TO DEATH (I THOUGHT I WOULDN'T TELL HER SO) AT WHAT WAS GOING ON ON THE STAGE.

"WELL, BEFORE THE SHOW WAS OVER I WAS CALLING HER MARY AND SHE WAS CALLING ME JOE—AND WERE GOING TO BE MARRIED TUESDAY AS YOU CAN SEE BY THE INVITATION."

"OF COURSE WE KNOW YOU WON'T COME TO THE WEDDING BUT WE JUST WANT YOU TO KNOW HOW YOU HAVE BROUGHT HAPPINESS TO OTHERS—EVEN IF YOU NEVER HAD THAT IN MIND."

This was but the first of a dozen or more testimonials to the efficacy of the famous mystery drama as a first-aid to Cupid, and Mr. Gordon is very happy over the totally unexpected influence "The Cat and the Canary" has exercised upon the matrimonial market.

Frank B. Carman

While attending a New Year's celebration in the New York City apartment of Frank Barrett Carman, Mrs. C. P. Hugo Schoellkopf, wife of a multi-millionaire Buffalo (N. Y.) man, was lured to another apartment, drugged and robbed of $500,000 worth of jewels. Carman was arrested, charged with being an accessory to the crime.

Small Insect Taught Great Asiatic Conqueror the Wonderful Value of Being Persevering.

There was no more remarkable feature in the character of Timur, the great Asiatic conqueror—commonly known by the name of Tamerlane—than his extraordinary perseverance. No difficulties ever led him to recede from what he had once undertaken, and he often persisted in his efforts under circumstances which led all around him to despair. On such occasions he used to relate to his friends an anecdote of his early life.

"One day," he said, "I was forced to take shelter from my enemies in a ruined building, where I sat alone many hours. Desiring to divert my mind from my hopeless condition, I fixed my eyes on an ant that was carrying a grain of corn larger than itself up a high wall. I numbered the efforts it made to accomplish this object."

"The grain fell 60 times to the ground; but the insect persevered, and the seventeenth time it reached the top. This sight gave me courage at the moment, and I never forgot the lesson."

Had Her Lesson Perfect. A little girl was told that polite people did not talk about their ailments in company, or outside the family. So when a visitor asked her if she was well, she said, "Well, in the family, I have stomach ache and other childish ailments; in company I am quite well thank you."

Boone Tree Named. The "Daniel Boone Judgment tree," an elm, at Fausse Orange, 55 miles west of St. Louis, has been nominated for a place in the Hall of Fame for trees. The tree stands upon a farm titled by Boone in 1820.

INNKEEPER SHOT; WOMAN QUIZZED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Mansaque, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Mrs. May Wells, 35 years old, was being questioned here today in connection with the death of James F. Pettit, who conducted Mansaque Inn.

Pettit, a gun shot wound in his body, was found lying in his room on the second floor of the hotel at midnight.

Mrs. Wells, Pettit's housekeeper, was found in a farmhouse a mile away from the hotel, after guests declared she fled from the place a few moments after a shot was heard. Her nose was broken.

The housekeeper denied she had anything to do with the shooting and declared that Pettit committed suicide. She said that the hotel man inherited $250,000 two years ago and had spent it all.

GOVERNOR ASKS FOR FACTS WARD CASE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Jan. 8.—Governor Smith has asked his legal adviser, James A. Parsons and his pardon clerk, Owen L. Potter, to bring him all the facts concerning the killing of Clarence Peters, the marine, and the prosecution of Walter S. Ward, who admitted murdering him. They are expected to confer with former District Attorney Weeks at Westchester county.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 8.—The stock market was weak at the start today. The motor issues were in supply. Chandler falling 1 1/2 to 86 1/2, while Studebaker showed a loss of 1 point to 113 1/2. U. S. Steel was 1/2 lower at 106 while Baldwin broke over 1 point to 131 1/2. Sears Roebuck showed a loss of 1 point at 96 and Central Leather was 1/2 lower at 32 1/2. The railroad shares were fractionally lower.

During the forenoon the market became strong and many important issues not only recovered their early losses but showed substantial gains. U. S. Steel, after yielding 1/2 to 106, rose to 106 1/2. Studebaker and Baldwin were up over 1 point.

The market was irregular in the afternoon with dealings on a small scale. California Petroleum was a strong feature, moving up 4 points to a new high. The copper were in demand and showed good gains. U. S. Steel yielded from 106 1/2 to 106, while Baldwin yielded 2 points. Some of the motor issues were fairly active and strong.

The market closed steady; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

NO STAY YET GRANTED TO MRS. THOMPSON

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Jan. 8.—Although she lived today in the shadow of death, Mrs. Edith Thompson, under sentence to be hanged tomorrow morning for the murder of her husband, fought valiantly to keep her nerve. With forced bravado, she kept singing snatches of songs as she paced restlessly back and forth in her cell nervously picking at her dress.

Outside in the stone walled court of Holloway jail, there was a sound of hammering, where carpenters were erecting the gibbet upon which the woman was to swing to her doom.

Counsel for Mrs. Thompson called attention of the Home office to a new confession of Frederick Bywaters, who was convicted and condemned with Mrs. Thompson, that he and not the woman, was responsible for the murder.

Society Notes

45th Wedding Anniversary.
Mr. and Mrs. David A. Freer, Sr., were very agreeably surprised on Saturday evening, January 6, when at 9 o'clock a party of twenty couples gathered at their home, 171 Henry street, in honor of their 45th wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in dancing and delicious refreshments were enjoyed. The party broke up in the early hours of the morning, the guests departing for their respective homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Freer many happy returns of the day. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Freer's daughter, Mrs. George Atkins, and family, Mildred, Dorothy, George and Bobby; Mr. and Mrs. Norris and family and James Horn of Newburgh; Mr. and Mrs. James Legg and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Goodsell and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myers and family, Arthur and Evelyn; Mrs. Brodhead and family, Helen and Charles; Miss Beatrice Moran, Elsie DeGraft, Margaret Burns, James Perry, Robert Freer, Harry Freer and David A. Freer, Jr.

WANTED THAT CARD TABLE

Boy Was Taking No Chances, Even Though He Was Bidding Against Himself.

He was the most persuasive auctioneer the Woman has ever seen—or heard. There was such a compelling tone to his voice, such a pleading note when the bidding lagged, that the Woman was almost induced to offer a bid or two herself. And that she certainly had had no intention of doing when she had succumbed on a sudden impulse to the alluring invitation of the red flag that announces "Auction today."

The bidding seemed to be going slowly and the auctioneer leaned far forward, exhorting earnestly and pleading with evangelistic fervor item number 70, a folding card table, was put upon the stand and a nervous two-haired youth in the second row bid $1.

"One dollar—I am bid. Do I hear two? Will any one make it two? A folding card table in first-class condition. It folds, ladies and gentlemen! A bargain! Will any one say $2?"

I was beginning to wonder whether I couldn't in some way use the table myself when the two-haired youth spoke again.

"Two dollars," he said.

The auctioneer looked at him scornfully. "Your bid is $1," he said.

The boy's face grew very red under his tow hair, but he stuck to his guns.

"I know, but it's $2 now," he replied firmly.

"Sold," the persuasive auctioneer announced promptly amid general laughter, in which even the boy joined.—Chicago Journal.

NO HOPE FOR THAT CLASS

Witty Individual Put Reckless Drivers Beyond the Possibility of Eternal Salvation.

Speeding motorists have inspired many village scribes to eloquence in the signs warning against extravagant use of gasoline in passing through their localities. A sign in a Jersey town worthy of perpetuation reads: "Drive slow and see our town; drive fast and see our jail!"—An American variation of the Russian proverb that "They drive farthest who drive slowly." But the prize warning to speeders is that which confronts the motorist on approaching a little Connecticut village. The Salvation Army, in its practical work of propagating the faith along the highways and byways, had painted a Biblical paraphrase on a railroad culvert to the effect that "Jesus is powerful to save all!"

Underneath in fresh letters was added, "except reckless drivers!"—Wall Street Journal.

Lafayette's Home a Club.
Lafayette, we are here again! The chateau du Chateau in the Upper Loire, birthplace of the illustrious marquis which the family was unable to retain, has become the property of a group of Americans. Numerous repairs and improvements have been made and the old place is now a club for American visitors.

There is a splendid view from the terrace of the chateau and the air is fine and fresh. Visitors will find comfortable equipment, spacious grounds, a golf course, tennis courts and other athletic features. Also they will have the satisfaction of sojourning beneath the roof which sheltered the infancy of the hero, whom they so ardently admire.—From Le Petit Parisien, Paris (Translated for the Kansas City Star.)

The Way They Are.
In one of the big city railway stations two men labor through the hours to remove wads of chewing gum travelers have tossed on the floor.

They are tolerant, these tollers. They do not denounce an uncontrolled and ill-bred humanity which makes such toll necessary. Patiently they scrape away, freeing the floor of gum so that it is in a suitable state for the application of mop and cleaning fluid.

"No," they say, pausing a moment in their diligent scraping. "No, we ain't got anything against 'em, they're like that. Just exactly like that. That's the way they are."

A Hard Swim.
From a Filipino boat captured by a small five men were drowned, but a woman, accustomed to swim from childhood, reached the shore after swimming for 13 hours. When she reached the coral reef her hair caught in its projections, but she dragged herself to safety.

ACETYLENE CUTTER WILL ASSIST DIVERS

French Inventor Perfects Instrument for Rapid Work Under Water.

An instrument to facilitate the work of divers bent on peace or war occupations and to enable them to work rapidly under water has been invented, patented and tested by Marius Royer, a Frenchman. His underwater blowpipe operated either by electricity or by acetylene, capable of cutting through the thickest sheets of metal without any danger whatever of being put out of use by water pressure, is considered a remarkable invention.

The instrument is simple and merely consists of a short tube six centimeters in diameter. The piercing flame is eleven millimeters long, three millimeters in diameter, and carefully protected by a thick mask covered with waterproof material. The generators are kept above water, the electric currents or acetylene gases simply passing through the tube to the jet. For its first test the blowpipe successfully cut through a steel plate 22 millimeters thick, 50 centimeters long and wide in 30 seconds.

In peace time the machine, capable of cutting steel at the rate of a meter a minute, is aimed to help either the refloating of large vessels or enable divers to get to the interior of ships and remove valuables. In war time there are various uses to which the instrument could be put, such as the cutting of enemy nets to trap submarines, the cutting of propellers and the loosening of fixed mines and their ultimate destruction. Tests are about to be made with M. Royer's invention on French ships sunk during the war.

HOP TOAD NEEDS WINGS

Would Greatly Increase His Value to Gardeners, Says Report.

If only the "hop toad" had wings he would be a wonderful "bird." The lovely creature is valuable to gardeners, greenhouse owners and golf-course guardians in helping to curb numbers of insect pests, but because he can't fly the biological survey of the Department of Agriculture says he isn't of much economic importance.

But, the survey declares, the toad should not be destroyed, for a certain proportion of his daily diet consists of injurious insects and other pests of growing plants. An analysis of the contents of the stomachs of 500 common toads shows that, while the findings in regard to the toad's choice of food are of interest, the toad is not of economic importance because he can't fly.

A report of the investigation of toad life by the survey, however, does disclose one trait of value in the "rain maker"—he is evidently not a busy-body for, we read:

"Toads go constantly about their own work of gaining a livelihood, and so, undoubtedly, fill their proper places in nature."

The investigation showed that the toad performs some service in such places as greenhouses, gardens, fields of small grain and golf courses.

ESKIMOS NOW USE RAZORS

Discard Old-Time Tweezers to Remove Facial Hairs.

Eskimos of northern Alaska have discarded the old-time tweezers to remove facial hairs and are now addicted to the more modern safety razor, according to traders who have returned to Seattle from that region after a summer's venture. As a result of this flip flop in fashion among the icy huts of the North the present generation is destined to be a bewhiskered one. The older men submitted to have the hairs pulled from their faces when young by the tweezer method. The younger men and growing boys would rather shave, even if they have to use ice water. Big sales of safety razors were made in the remote tribes this past year. It is said that the forefathers of the Eskimos started pulling out their whiskers to avoid the nuisance of having them covered with snow and ice when traveling.

TRAVELERS STAND GEM LOSS

Commerce Board Says Roads Not Liable for Missing Valuables.

Railroads are justified in refusing to pay damages for jewelry lost or stolen from the baggage of travelers. The interstate commerce commission held, and Mrs. F. Perley Jones of Kirkwood Mo., is denied a claim of $250 which she made against the Missouri Pacific.

The commission held that all railroads had in effect a regulation refusing to accept responsibility for money, jewelry and negotiable papers when included in baggage, and that this rule was reasonable.

Mrs. Jones raised the question of the legal rights of railroads to make such a rule after she lost $250 worth of jewelry from her trunk while traveling. In checking her trunk Mrs. Jones declared that it contained articles valued at $500, and paid extra charges for its shipment, but the railroad refused to pay the loss.

Crosses on Lithuanian High Roads.
One thing that particularly attracts the attention of the traveler in Lithuania are the crosses on the high roads. Mostly in carved wood, they are of gigantic dimensions. In some provinces there is a cross for every mile of highway, in addition to a number of crosses on the fields or in the corners of streets in villages. In every cross there is a deep niche containing one or more icons and perpetually burning oil lamps, the flame of which is kept alive through a vow taken by some family from time immemorial. As the roads are not lighted, the lights on the crosses serve the same purpose to the winter traveler, when the roads are buried in deep snow, that does the lighthouse to a ship.

These crosses are said to contain the complete history of Lithuania from the early part of the fourteenth century, when it accepted Christianity.

The phoebe, of the family of flycatchers, builds its nest close to the haunts of man. The same pair of phoebes will return year after year to their former nesting place, often building the new nest on top of the old one.

Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Margaret, widow of James McNamara, died Saturday evening at her home in Rosendale. She is survived by one son, John, and two daughters, Mary and Anna. Mrs. McNamara was in her 87th year, and was a woman who was held in high esteem by all who knew her. The funeral will be held Tuesday morning, January 9, at 10 o'clock from St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, where a high Mass of requiem will be celebrated for the repose of her soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale.
